Secretary Ryan Says the Ill-smelling Bomb Was Not Dangerous-It Was to Create a Stampede and the Meeting Was to Have Been Broken Up-Newly Arrived Men the Arters-A. Young Woman's Bravery.

The row at the Irish Federation's meeting at which the Hon, Edward Blake, M. P., spoke in the Lenox Lyceum on Wednesday evening is not to be allowed to drop without an attempt to punish the conspirators. The Federatjonists say it was the result of a plot concocted a week ago Sunday, and that the intention was to tampede the meeting by the burning of the Il-ameiling bomb and other means.

It was to be carried out by some newly arrived members of the Physical Force party. They say that the evidences show that the men behind the movement were willing to spend a lot of money to carry out their design. Joseph B. Ryan says the conspirators will be caught and punished.

The Federationists, who are the supporters of the McCarthylte members of the Irish National party, feel that it is incumbent upon them to demonstrate clearly not only the culpability of those actually concerned, but the responsibility of whatever Irish political faction fathered the movement. Said one of the leaders yesterday: "If we are content to pose before our fellow citizens not of Irish nationality as part and parcel of an aggregation of men calling them-selves Ireland's friends who will pursue the tactics of Wednesday night, we ought to be con-demned, and our appeals for aid to the Irish cause ought to be futile. It is because we believe in peaceful, parliamentary agitation that we are subjected to such demonstrations, and it seems to me there is an object lesson for those contributing money for Ireland's cause.

Secretary Ryan's son, who entered the box where the nasty bomb was burned immediately after the occurrence, said the receptacle was a chemist's glass tube, and that it had contained nitrie acid, among other things. Its obvious purpose was not to cause harm of itself, but to start a stampede.

Secretary Ryan says the plot was formed at the Irish Nationalist Club, 598 Seventh avenue. He says he has the names of a half dozen men who were in the conspiracy, and believes he can get at their principal associates and fasten the

By means of the bogus tickets he believes the trail of the plotters can be traced. The forget tickets were distributed in various parts of the city. According to Mr. Ryan, some newly arrived and little-known Irishmen, for whom disturbance by bomb and otherwise has a fascination, were organized in squads and told to place themselves in different parts of the hall. A prominent man whose sympathies are not with the McCarthy methods at Westminster was to denounce Mr. Blake from a box, and if an attempt to suppress ilm was made the bomb was to be exploded: the others were to raise an uproar and the meet-him was made the bomb was to be exploded; the others were to raise an uproar and the meeting to be ignominiously dispersed. The man who was to lead the assault from the box is known. Mr. Hyan says, to be one of two strong anti-McCarthylites.

The man with the bomb bought a box ticket, and so secured admission.

Juseph Billon, a painter, of Sixth avenue, and a young man and a young woman were in the box with him. The man was not well dressed. Dillon says that a few moments after he entered the box the man began to get flighery, paying no stiention to Mr. Hiske, and suddenly stepped to the door. He had had about time enough to reach Fifty-ninth street when the puff came. The young woman in the box called out through the curtain of smoke: "Keep your seats. There's no harm done."

The Irish Independent Parliamentary party discinims all knowledge of any concerted attempt to break up the blake meeting. The leaders, however, will not speak for individual members of the organization, or for the Physical Force men of the Nationalist Club, at whose house the Independents hold their meetings, although the organizations are said not to be affiliated. The Independents held a meeting at the club house on Wednesday, and it was from these several of the men who presented forged lickets at the Lenox Lyceum said they came. Edward A. Flaherty, President of the Independents said yesterday that the warfare of his crasnization on Mr. Blake had been an open political one from the start, and that no attempts to disturb a Federationists' meeting would be countenanced. Some of the Independents might attend such a meeting and might exercise their right to hiss at what displeased them, as they would applicad what they liked. He scouted the idea that either the Independents or the Physical Force men would attempt or think of such a thing as personal violence toward Mr. Blake.

Mr. Islake, he said, according to Harold Frederic, who was regarded here as the mouthpleee of Tim Healy, came not as the representative of the McCarthylies, but to R

Kuhl's Charge Against Policeman Weinberg. Policeman Joseph Weinberg of the City Hall squad was before Commissioner Sheehan yesterday on a charge of blackmail made by Philip Kuhl of 205 East Thirty-third street. In June. 1803, Kuhl opened an employment agency at 425 Sixth avenue, and he alleges that Weinberg demanded $10 from him, in consideration of which Weinberg was to report favorably to the Mayor on Kuhl's application for a license. Kuhl says he paid Weinberg $5, and that upon his resays he paid Weinberg 85, and that upon his refusal to pay the remainder Weinberg afterward arrested him, and had him sent to Blackwell's Island for one month.

Weinberg denied the charge of blackmail.
He said he arrested Kuhl for running his place without a license. W. L. Soyer, who said he was a detective for the Lexow committee, testified in behalf of Weinberg. He had met Kuhl in Lawyer tioffs office, where Kuhl had gone to offer himself as a witness before the committee, and Soyer had warned Mr. Goff to have nothing to do with Kuhl. The latter had offered to testify against Weinberg for a price.

HE IS PRIOR HUGH NOW.

The Protestant Monk Has an Associate-Biessing of the Priory Chapel. The Priory, the house of the Community of the Brothers of the Church, the new monastic order of laymen in the Protestant Episcopal Church, which was instituted by Bishop Potter a fortnight ago at St. Chrysostom's Chapel, when Brother Hugh took the vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience, was formally opened yesterday morning, and its chapel and altar were blessed. The house is at 371 West Thirtyfifth street. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of Wyoming and idaho. There were present at the services Mr. W. W. Whitcomb of Boston, the father of Brother Hugh, who was known in the world as Russell Whitcomb, and several members of his family, together with a number of ladies who had been invited to attend, and the following clergymen: T. H. Sill, John H. Knowles, and S. S. Mitchell of St. Chrysostom's, and T. McKee Brown of St. Marg, the Virgin.

After the ceremony of blessing the chapel and altar had been concluded a new member was added to the community in the person of E. B. Wooster of Roston, who took the vows of a novice and will be called Brother Aidan. Brother Aidan is the second to become a member of the community, and took the vows of chastity and obedience for two years. At the expiration of that time he will be prepared to take the further vow of poverty, and will become a full member of the Brothers of the Church. MR. DUTTON'S MISSING BONDS.

Reason for Thinking that the Thief Who Stole Them Wore Creaking Shoes.

The mysterious robber who carried off the fifty $1,000 Montauk Coal and Gas Company's bonds from the desk in Stephen A. Dutton's back parior in 179 Clinton street, Brooklyn, on Tuesday night, has not been discovered. Ap-parently the thief will not realize much. Broker parently the thief will not realize much. Broker E. J. Sterling of 111 Broadway, from whom Mr. Dutton got the bonds, says that they are not worth a penny and that he never guaranteed any interest on them.

Mary Conway, a servant in the house, has informed the police that soon after she went to bed on Tuesday night, and during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Dutton, she heard some man, with creaking shoes, walking around the house. Allen O. Dutton, a brother of Mr. Dutton, arrived home about the time the girl heard the footateps, and the detectives have learned, they say, that he wore creaking shoes that night.

The supposed suspicious visitor to the house on Monday turns out to be Heury Hess, a real estate broker, of 120 Broadway. His call was simply to see Mr. Dutton about raising some money on real estate. It now looks as if the detectives would not exert themselves much further in the search for the burglar.

Found Dying in Theatre Alley.

John Schaley, 40 years old, an assistant en-gineer at 115 and 117 Nassau street, was found unconscious in Theatre alley at the rear of the unconscious in Theatre alley at the rear of the building, yesterday morning. His skull was crushed in two places, and he died a few minutes after being taken to the Chambers Street Hospital. The police of the Oak street station reported that schaley had fallen from a second-story window. He is supposed to have been cleaning windows at the time.

It was suggested, however, that Schaley might have been murdered while passing through the alley. It is said that $18 which he had in his pocket on Wednesday night was missing.

Mrs. Maubec Gets a Separation. Mary Maubec obtained from Judge Pryor yesterday a decree of separation against Charles Maubec, a wholesale wine and liquor dealer of Mattee, a winesase wine and riquor dealer of 18 Cedar street. Mrs. MacDec, who is about 53 years old, is the daughter of Dr. William D. Jordan of Missouri and a granddaughter of John Sevier, once Governor of Tennessee. She says that her husband is living with a Mrs. Bowman, whom Mrs. Maubec is suing to recover $25,000 damages for allenating bis affections.

A Policeman Shoots Himself by Accident. Patrolman Edward B. Holshan of the East Sixty-seventy street squad accidentally shot himself with his own revolver in the basement of the station house yesterday morning. "The child is mine. Let her go and give her

"You aren't fit to take care of her. You're just out of prison. You shan't have her," screeched the other. "Does the child belong to that woman?"

"Yes, she does, but—"
Before she could say more the middle-aged woman caught up the child and ran. Yesterday morning the following appeared in the papers:

Mr. McAdam said yesterday afternoon: "Wil-liam Wuerz married Matilda Driscoll of 400 Mr. McAdam said yesterday afternoon: "William Wuerz married Matilda Driscoll of 400 West Fifty-fourth street about five years ago. Wuerz is the son of William Wuerz, who lives at 42 West Seventy-first street and is said to be worth nearly a million dollars. The couple have two children, Ethel and Irene. Mrs. Wuerz began to drink soon after her marriage. The husband applied for a limited divorce, and the action is still pending. Mr. Wuerz left his wife. He continued to support her generously and left the children in her care. Mrs. Wuerz drank more and neglected the children. The neighbors complained to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, but that society would not interfere. Mr. Wnerz then decided to take his children away from their mother. One day, when he saw his wife go into a neighboring saloon, he took them away to his father's house. The children were half clad and hungry. Soon afterward the wife was arrested and sent to the Ward's Island Asylum for the linsane. Ten days ago she was released.

"On Wednesday morning Mr. Wuerz's mother took Ethel for a walk. At the corner of Eighth avenue and Fifty-third street the two met Mrs. Wuerz Jr., who asked permission to kiss her child. Then she demanded her child. There was a scene, and some people in the crowd made the mother-in-law give up the child to the mother. Mrs. Wuerz, Jr., had threatened to kill herself and her children, and the husband fears that in a fit of drunken frenzy she may carry out the threat. Mrs. Wuerz took the child to the home of her aunt, at 400 West Fifty-fourth street. Mrs. Meerz took the child to be home of her aunt, at 400 West Fifty-fourth street. Mrs. Meerz took the child to be before him Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock."

In only two stocks were there distinctive movements to-day; they were Sugar Refining and General Electric. The first was strong and closed steady; sales, 146,000. Liverpool declined closed a point higher on comparatively light transactions and after a series of narrow fluctuations. Comment or theorizing upon this stock is useless, since there are no current developments affecting its value, and the fluctuations in tare due entirely to manipulation and the trading of professional operators. The same statement appears to apply with equal accuracy to General Electric, which was more active than for some time past, and closed nearly two points lower. Efforts were made to convey the impression that the market for the stock to-day was influenced by extensive liquidation; but so far as can be learned there was nothing in the financial condition of the company to warrant the selling of the stock by those in a position to be best posted as to its affairs, namely, its largest stockholders. According to trustworthy information the company has no floating debt, has about $500 cash in its treasury, and has during the last few months redeemed $700,000 of its debenture bonds. St. Paul and Chicago Gas were considered as to its affairs, namely, its largest the last few months redeemed $700,000 of its debenture bonds. St. Paul and Chicago Gas were considered to convey the impression that the worth in the improved, but the staple is some constitution of the company has no floating debt, has about $500 cash in its treasury, and has during the last few months redeemed $700,000 of its debenture bonds. Of these charges $1,380,373 is for reotative frack and equipment, and the greater part of the remainder is interest upon the various coligations of the company. The court has authorized the payment of the $1,380,373 due for rental of tracks and equipment, $1,280,010 of interest and sinking fund on the first mortrage, the interest on the Missouri and Pend d'Oreille division bonds, $202,020; the interest on the collateral trust notes, $5,028,0, and on the floating debt $11,340, and various smaller items aggregating $33,132.
